

GONEMAD - Planet 9

West Palm Beach's GONEMAD have an incredible sound transformed by combining the best of metal, hardcore, funk, rock, and rap all into one powerful concoction. GONEMAD is made up of five guys (Scott White-Bass, Cliff Powell-Guitars, Craig McInnis-Vocals/Guitar, Gerald Brown-Guitar/Vocals, and J.C. Dwyer-Drums) equipped with weapons they know how to use extremely well. Their latest effort, Planet 9, clearly represents the multi-faceted talents that GONEMAD is capable of producing. Illustrating this are all 13 tracks, including songs like "Sorry Seems to Lose Its Meaning" and "Sympathy Crutch". My favorite is "Nowhere" because it is comprised of many different sounds such as opening up-beat guitars later refined into hardcore riffs along with hard-hitting beats and intense, but at the same time, melodic vocals. Planet 9 is a great choice for anyone who wants a taste of an unadulterated, diverse sound from five guys embodied with a creative ability to make music.

Visit their website at www.GONEMAD.com

Nosebleed17 Rating: 8.5/10

January 2000

hardcore/metal/crossover

N O S E B L E E D 1 7 C O M

BAND OF THE MONTH

GONEMAD

January 2000